This assumes some higher values. It makes no difference whether we as individuals lack the mental vision to detect all the remote consequences of our actions. Thank you Your feedback has been received. JeffMathesonpm, June 14, Link. Curiously, that has hardly been investigated as yet, not even in nursing homes, the prime product of which is happy life years. Working through even a single example shows that it is virtually impossible to do a complete utilitarian calculus, and this constitutes the strongest argument against it. Such a machine has not yet been created, but, even today, many philosophers and social scientists defend hedonistic utilitarianism because of its objectivity.
