Majestic power! No list ever gets written upon the soul yet love is weaved within the soul Threading our changes within the warp Leaving it impossible to untangle So roll into every seismic event Let the wind and breeze entangle Embrace earthquakes down to the core Unearth the depths Roil, live, breathe within shuddering passions To the benefit of For others, love is a fulfilling experience in the building upon positive aspects of themselves.

The most carefully constructed and elaborate of the early poems is "The Mosque He will see it all roofless, All ruined and roofless With the marble on the ground. What a thing it is to sit absolutely alone, in the forest, at night, cherished by this wonderful, unintelligible, perfectly innocent speech, the most comforting speech in the world, the talk that rain makes by itself all over the ridges, and the talk of the watercourses everywhere in the hollows! Even the phrase each other doesn't make any sense. If the drink is bitter, turn yourself to wine. Both Lindsay and Le Bourgeois transcribe this last line as "In the spring grow lovely ever," but the second-to-last word looks as much like "lonely," which in this context would be more pointed. Morris is contrasting the paired lilies with the solitary daffodil. The comments section on regular posts is meant to be a place for civil and fruitful discussion.
